Last Day To Register: April 4

In the mid-1960s, artists, writers, and musicians moved into San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury district with hopes of creating a new social paradigm. By 1967, during the highly publicized Summer of Love, the neighborhood would attract as many as 100,000 young people from all over the nation. Through a wide array of iconic rock posters, interactive music and light shows, out-of-this-world clothing, and photographs from the years surrounding this pivotal moment, Summer of Love celebrates the city's rebellious and colorful counterculture and explores the visual and material cultures of a generation searching for personal fulfillment through social change. The immersive exhibition includes psychedelic light shows by Bill Ham and Ben Van Meter, rock posters by artists including Victor Moscoso, Stanley Mouse, and Wes Wilson along with examples of the handcrafted, one-of-a-kind garments created by such designers as Brigitta Bjerke, K. Lee Manuel, and Jeanne Rose. This is a guided tour with a docent.

BOLD GIVES BACK.

Alina Bhatti, a freshman majoring in Biology, participated in the First Year Experience program, which cultivates critical thinking skills for academic success and beyond.

When a university and a community come together to move a region forward, that's bold.

Fresno State's calling is to help break through challenges that stand between the Valley you know and the Valley we must become to thrive, putting great minds to work and partnering every step of the way.

From every corner of campus, there's a commitment to graduate more problem-solvers, more innovators and more critical thinkers who see the potential of our Valley. It's not surprising then, that 80 percent of Fresno State graduates choose to stay here to build regional vitality.

So join us and lead like only we can together.

Give where bold begins.
