Diversity Defined

• Diversity: Individual differences (e.g., personality, learning styles, and life experiences) and group/social differences (such as race/ethnicity, class, gender, sexual orientation, country of origin and ability, as well as cultural, political, religious, or other affiliations) that can be engaged in the service of [everyone's] learning.

Inclusion Defined

• Inclusion: The active, intentional, and ongoing engagement with diversity—in people, in the curriculum, in the co-curriculum, and in communities (intellectual, social, cultural, geographical) with which individuals might connect—in ways that increase one's awareness, content knowledge, cognitive sophistication, and empathic understanding of the complex ways individuals interact within [and change] systems and institutions.

Equity(mindedness) Defined

• Equity-mindedness: Refers to the outlook, perspective or mode of thinking exhibited by practitioners and others who call attention to patterns of inequity in student outcomes, and are willing to assume personal and institutional responsibility for the elimination of inequity. This includes being "color conscious," noticing differences in experience among racial-ethnic groups, and being willing to talk about race and ethnicity as an aspect of equity. Equity perspectives are evident in actions, language, problemframing, problem-solving, and cultural practices.

Integrative Learning

Today's Higher Education Learning Environment: Disparate Elements

Facilities (e.g., classrooms, residence halls, libraries)

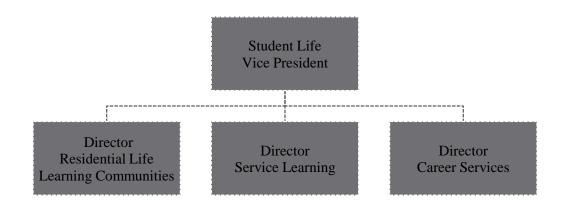

Resources (e.g., student support services, teaching & learning center, curriculum, academic advising, labs, print & non-print media)

Facilitators (e.g., professor, chair, admissions officer, academic advisor, financial aid counselor, committee member, career counselor)

Learners (e.g., staff, faculty, students, units, departments, institution as a whole)

Today's Higher Education Learning Environment

The Intentional Institution

- Creates synergy at the points where various elements of learning intersect (through communication, coordination, and collaboration)
- Makes the most of the uniqueness of each learner—as an individual and as a member of multiple identity groups—to enhance key learning outcomes
- Uses learning facilitators, facilities, and resources in the service of learning and knowledge development to strengthen our nation's diverse democracy and quality of life for all

The Intentional Institution: Making Excellence Inclusive
