

COM S 101 REGISTRATION AND WORKSHOPS SPRING 2011

Dear Student:

Thank you for your interest in the Community Service 101 (Com S 101). The time you commit to community service could be one of the most rewarding experiences you have during college. Through this course you can gain excellent career experience, develop leadership and other personal skills, and contribute to the community in which you live.

You may sign up for 1, 2, or 3 units of academic credit. For each unit of Com S 101 credit you enroll in you must perform 45 hours of service with a nonprofit or government organization during the academic semester. The only "class time" required is a one hour Registration Workshop at the beginning of the semester and a one hour Reflection Workshop at the end of the semester. At the registration workshop you will learn all of the important details about community service in and the Com S 101 course. During this workshop you will also obtain the required forms for the Community Service 101 course.

You can sign-up for the Com S 101 course during pre-registration or during the first two weeks of the semester using the web-based registration system on My Fresno State.
