

ABSTRACT

REMAINS

This story collection explores what characters are left with when they experience something traumatic: death, birth, the end of relationships, breaking points. The stories are interested in uncovering what happens when the traumatic event is over. Essentially, how are the characters changed? When everything is said and done, what has the character lost, and what remains?

Stephanie Huebschle
May 2009