

ABSTRACT

FROM THE PERIPHERY

If we can take a daily minute to observe the minutia of our lives, see the people around us, their small movements, their impact on our lives at the cellular level, we can begin to close the spaces between us. I hope these poems begin to do this.

Courtney Nicole Miller
August 2009