F. Reclassification Upon Replacement
When a position becomes vacant, managers often implement needed changes in organization and work leveling. Consequently, the position description may be modified. It is important to notify your assigned recruiter of such position changes in order to ensure the position is properly recruited.

Back to table of contents

Jump To:
- General Information
- Policy: Classification Review Program