

Political Pundit

With the California presidential primary just a week away, voters have a chance to make their preferences known.

Associate political science professor David Schechter helps Fresno State students understand the political landscape and their place in it. From local and state elections to the race for the White House, politics affects our daily lives. Studying political science instills a concern for human values and civic responsibility that helps students adapt to a constantly changing world.

Fresno State is providing ideas and insights that will build an effective citizenry – one vote at a time.
