

Global Perspectives

Geography is more than places on a map. At Fresno State, Department of Geography chairman Dr. Sam Omolayo helps connect students with the world, its people and its problems. He teaches them how they can solve economic, social and environmental challenges at home and abroad.

Using Geographic Information Systems and remote sensing, Dr. Omolayo pinpoints climate problems facing farmers and also collects data that allow us to better understand asthma and other regional health concerns.

At Fresno State, we're mapping the future of the Valley and beyond.
