

Reader Leader

Few activities capture the imagination better than reading a good book. As the coordinator for bilingual and English language development at the Kremen School of Education and Human Development, Dr. Rosie Arenas helps teachers gain the tools they need to help students read.

Her passion for teaching has helped Dr. Arenas touch the lives of thousands of students. In our constantly changing society, literacy in English opens the door to a successful future for all students. Dr. Arenas' success in sharing this incredible gift is a story we all need to read.
