

Fresno State Scholar Athletes Amanda Reyes and Clint Stitser are carrying on proud Bulldog traditions of excellence in the classroom and on the playing field.

Amanda, a mass communications/journalism major, was recognized as a Fresno State Scholar Athlete. She earned a 3.0 GPA while playing defender for the 2006 Western Athletic Conference champion Bulldog soccer team that didn't give up a goal to WAC opponents.

Clint recently completed his degree in business administration with a 4.0 GPA and was a Dean's Medal winner. He is pursuing his MBA and returns as a kicker on the football team. Last season he converted 11 of 16 field-goal tries and 31 of 33 point-after-touchdown attempts.

Fresno State salutes all of our Scholar Athletes.
