

LEON S. PETERS ETHICS LECTURE

Restorative Justice

A Solution to the School to Prison Pipeline?

October 17, 6-7:30 pm

Peters Ed Auditorium

(student rec center Shaw and Woodrow)

Restorative Justice has become a topic of concern for people throughout our community. What does it mean? How is it best applied? And what are the challenges? This interdisciplinary panel will discuss these questions and other issues related to restorative justice in education and in the criminal justice system. With:

- Professor Tinneke Van Camp, Department of Criminology
- Chief Joe Garza, Reedley Police Department
- Lieutenant Marc Ediger, Reedley Police Department
- Jake Harder, West Coast Mennonite Central Committee and Reedley Peace Building Initiative
- Erica Hassenbeck, Restorative Practices Manager, Department of Prevention & Intervention at Fresno Unified
- Professor Marcus Shaw, Department of Criminology
- Arnold Trevino, Fresno State MSW student and Project Rebound student assistant

Cosponsored with Department of Criminology, Peace and Conflict Studies, and Mediator Mentors

If you need special accommodations, please contact Ruth Aparicio, Philosophy Department: 278-2621
Free and Open to the Public thanks to the generous support of the Leon S. Peters Foundation
Contact: Andrew Fiala (afiala@csufresno.edu); <http://www.fresnostate.edu/artshum/ethicscenter/>