

Albert Einstein said about creativity:

A person who never made a mistake never tried anything new.

A man should look for what is, and not for what he thinks should be.

All religions, arts and sciences are branches of the same tree.

Anger dwells only in the bosom of fools.

Anyone who doesn't take truth seriously in small matters cannot be trusted in large ones either.

Anyone who reads too much and uses his own brain too little falls into lazy habits of thinking.

Any man who drives safely while kissing a pretty girl is simply not giving the attention it deserves.

Common sense is the collection of prejudices acquired by age eighteen.

Concern for man and his fate must always form the chief interest of all technical endeavors. Never forget this in the midst of your diagrams and equations.

Before God, we are all equally wise – and equally foolish.

A perfection of means, and confusion of aims, seems to be our main problem.

Any intelligent fool can make things bigger, more complex, and more violent.

It takes a touch of genius, and a lot of courage, to move in the opposite direction.

If the facts don't fit the theory, change the facts.

Insanity is doing the same thing over and over again and expecting different results.