Job Description	Colgin is looking for two interns for the 2015 harvest. One intern will potentially start in the spring and the other in August. We are a small dynamic team in need of a meticulous, reliable individual. Our production size is very small, so the interns will have the opportunity to see and touch every aspect of harvest. The ideal candidate will have some previous winery experience and taken some winemaking courses. Meals will be provided during harvest.
Contact Info	Please no phone calls. All applicants should attach a cover letter and resume.
