

EnRoute Winery (sister winery to Far Niente, Nickel & Nickel, Dolce, and Bella Union) is located in Sebastopol, Sonoma County, California, and produces about 25,000 cases of Pinot noir and Chardonnay annually, from some of the most prized vineyards in the Russian River Valley. Our estate properties include the famed Amber Ridge vineyard.

EnRoute is looking for a few 2016 harvest interns to work closely with the winemaking and cellar staff, working hands-on in all aspects of the winemaking process. Duties include (but are not limited to):

- Cleaning and sanitizing tanks, equipment, presses, and barrels
- Sorting and crushing grapes
- Performing tank additions and inoculations
- Monitoring fermentations
- Performing cap punchdowns and pumpovers
- Draining, digging, and pressing tanks
- Filling, racking, and topping barrels

Ideal candidates will also possess:

- Previous wine cellar experience
- A passion for Pinot noir
- An understanding that, "Good winemaking is doing the right thing; great winemaking is doing the right thing, even when nobody is looking."
- The ability and motivation to work long hours in a physically demanding environment
- The ability to work on ladders and heights
- The ability to lift 50 lbs.
- Forklift experience
- A keen eye for detail

Internships start early/mid-August (TBD), may include pre-harvest bottling assistance, and run through approximately mid-October (TBD). Hourly pay rate is based on experience. To apply, please email both a resume and a cover letter to Gordon Smith, at gsmith@enroutewinery.com.

No phone calls, please.
