

FRESNO STATE

Viticulture and Enology

STUDENT RESEARCH ASSISTANTSHIPS

The Viticulture and Enology Department at California State University, Fresno is offering the following research assistantships to qualified viticulture and enology students.

Ag-One Richard and Saralee Kunde Research Assistantship

Recipient must be currently enrolled in a graduate or undergraduate program in the Department of Viticulture and Enology and show a demonstrated interest in the programs of VERC.

Ag-One DiBuduo Family Assistantship

Recipient will work on research projects focusing on wine and/or table grapes. Activities will include field, laboratory, and/or library assignments.

Garabedian Family Viticulture Student Assistantship

Recipient must be currently enrolled in a graduate or undergraduate program in the Department of Viticulture and Enology with an emphasis in viticulture. Recipient will work in the area of raisin processing/research. It is desirable that the work performed will be the basis of a Master's thesis or independent study. There will be a committee formed by the Garabedian family consisting of five persons to review and approve the students to be employed as student assistants and their rate of pay.

Halemeier Endowed Family Assistantship

Recipient must be a graduate or undergraduate student in the Department of Viticulture and Enology with a minimum of a 2.5 g.p.a. Recipient shall not concurrently be participants in Fresno State's International Student Services and Programs.

Horace O. Lanza Enology Assistantship

Recipient will work on research projects in enology. Activities will include field, laboratory, and/or library assignments.

Horace O. Lanza Viticulture Assistantship

The recipient will work on research projects in viticulture. Activities will include field, laboratory, and/or library assignments.

H. P. and Edna Metzler Viticulture Assistantship

Recipient will work on research projects in viticulture. Activities will include field, laboratory, and/or library assignments.

San Joaquin Valley Winemakers Research Assistantship

Recipient must be currently enrolled in a graduate or undergraduate program in the School of Agricultural Sciences and Technology with an emphasis in enology. Recipient will work on research projects that are nonproprietary in enology.

Bayer Agriculture Division Graduate Student Assistantship

Recipient will participate in research and other programmatic activities in viticulture. Activities may include field, laboratory, and/or library research as well as instructional assistance.

QUALIFICATIONS: Bachelor's degree in agricultural science or related field. Proof of eligibility for admission to a Graduate Program in agriculture required.

Application requirements:

- Completed Application
- Nomination letter from a Viticulture and Enology faculty member.

Please contact Andrea Magdaleno for additional information
(559) 278-2089 or amagdaleno@csufresno.edu