

CO-TEACHING WORKSHOP

BEST PRACTICE IN STUDENT TEACHING

A collaboration between Central Valley Schools and Fresno State Kremen School of Education and Human Development.

Kremen School of Education and
Human Development

The future of student teaching is here as Valley educators work cooperatively to enhance the quality of educational services offered to students in the classroom. Research indicates that the co-teaching model increases student learning and helps make teacher candidates more successful. Cooperating Teachers, Teacher Candidates, and Supervisors are invited and encouraged to participate as a team in this interactive workshop. The workshop enhances two important areas: 1) participants' knowledge of the seven co-teaching strategies and, 2) the relationship between the teacher and the teacher candidate through cooperative/group dynamic activities.

- ✓ Interactive Workshop
- ✓ Please bring lesson ideas to integrate with Co-Teaching
- ✓ Continental Breakfast and Lunch included
- ✓ KSOEHD will pay for your Substitute Teacher on School Days OR Cooperating Teachers who attend a Saturday workshop receive a $150 stipend
- ✓ Free Fresno State Library Privileges for Cooperating Teachers
- ✓ $450 refund for Cooperating Teachers on registration fees for courses taken at Fresno State within a two-year period beginning spring 2015

Presenters: Drs. Jose Lomeli & Kien Pham

Time: 9:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.

Location: Fresno State – Kremen Education Building, Rm 140

Dates: (Choose one) Friday, February 9
Friday, February 16
Saturday, February 17

Please RSVP online at: <http://www.fresnostate.edu/kremen/credential/field-placements/index.html> (follow the link in the right-hand side bar)

Fresno State Parking Code will be provided after you complete the online registration.

FAQ's

Q: Is this mandatory?

A: Highly recommend but not required.

Q: I am planning on going to my district's co-teaching workshop, do I have to attend the Fresno State workshop, too?

A: No.

Q: My master teacher (or student teacher) cannot attend, can I attend alone?

A: The workshop works if both co-teachers attend together. We do not recommend coming alone. The workshop is designed to work in pairs.

Q: I have two master teachers (or student teachers), can I attend the workshop with both of them?

A: Yes!

Q: How does the district get reimbursed for the substitute teacher?

A: The district will send the Field Placements office an invoice for the cost of the substitute.

Q: I have already attended a Fresno State co-teaching workshop with a different co-teacher. Is this workshop going to be different?

A: Yes! Some review can be helpful in reinforcing co-teaching strategies. The pairs/group dynamic activities will also make this a different experience since you will be working with a different co-teacher than in the past.

Q: What role does the university supervisor play in the workshop?

A: The university supervisor is there to support both the master teacher and student teacher.

Q: I am an intern, can I attend?

A: Yes! You may bring your mentor. This has been very beneficial for interns. Please attend and we will pay for your substitute if you miss a school day.

Note for Cooperating Teachers: Please follow the regular process of requesting a substitute at your school for the date you attend the workshop. Let your school site know that you are attending a "Co-Teaching Workshop" held by Fresno State (they might have a code already set up for the event). Your school will send over the invoice to our office and we will reimburse the district/school for the substitute if you attend the workshop.

Mail substitute invoices to:

Professional Field Experiences
Kremen School of Education
Attention: Brenna Barks
5005 North Maple Ave. M/S
ED2 Fresno, CA. 93740-8025