Linked Learning

Linked Learning (LL) is an approach that is transforming education for California students by integrating rigorous academics with career-based learning & real world workplace experiences. LL ignites students' passions by creating meaningful learning experiences through career-oriented pathways in fields such as engineering, health care, performing arts, law, ... When students love what they're learning, they work harder, dream bigger, & learn more.

By turning high school education into a personally relevant, engaging experience for all students, LL exposes them to previously unimagined college & career opportunities. Research shows that LL students have higher rates of engagement & higher graduation rates than their peers at traditional high schools.
