

POLICY ON ANCILLARY UNITS

I. PURPOSE

Campuses of the California State University are authorized by Executive Order 751 to create entities usually known as centers, institutes, ancillary units, bureaus, clinics, laboratories, research groups, councils, field stations, consortia, and similar organizations. For the purposes of this policy, the term "Ancillary Unit" shall be taken to include all of the aforementioned types of organizations. The following policy applies to all Ancillary Units currently established as well as those to be developed in the future.

Generally such units operate outside the direct instructional mission of the university but are designed to enhance the mission of the university. While Ancillary Units do not have the primary purpose of offering instruction, the activities of Ancillary Units may be related to instructional programs and objectives. They may or may not expect to generate resources through grant or contract activities. In some instances scholars from several fields of study may wish to express their joint scholarly interests and relationships in the more formal setting of an Ancillary Unit.

California State University, Fresno's Ancillary Units are intended to enhance and extend the university's academic programs by focusing attention and effort on specific programmatic objectives. Ancillary Units shall meet at least one of the following criteria:

- a. enhance faculty research and scholarship;
- b. promote the programs of the university; or
- c. promote and provide for public service programs.

II. ORGANIZATION AND REPORTING

1. Each center, institute, and Ancillary Unit is required to:
 - a. have a clearly stated set of objectives;
 - b. have a clear relationship to the mission of an existing university program;
 - c. be housed administratively within an existing department, program, school, or college;
 - d. have a standing advisory committee chaired by a faculty member other than the unit's director that will participate in setting the unit's goals and objectives and in evaluating its effectiveness; and
 - e. submit an annual report.
2. Normally Ancillary Units report to a college/school dean or division head.

III. CRITERIA FOR ESTABLISHING AN ANCILLARY UNIT

Each Ancillary Unit shall:

1. contribute to the fulfillment of the mission of the California State University and California State University, Fresno;
2. incorporate accepted standards of academic research including being subject to peer review;
3. conform with all applicable laws and regulations and with system wide and university risk management policies.
4. provide a description of the accomplishments of the unit including a list of related achievements, scholarly works, or other results of the unit;
5. provide a statement on sources of funding and how funds are being generated and expended through the California State University, Fresno Foundation;
6. provide a statement on how the unit is conforming to systemwide and university policies and procedures related to risk management.
7. provide a copy of each of the preceding three annual reports;
8. provide a copy of the preceding three years' final budgets.

IV. APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL/RENEWAL OF AN ANCILLARY UNIT

A. The application for approval of a new Ancillary Unit shall include each of the following:

1. A clear statement and delineation of purpose of the proposed Ancillary Unit, which includes a description of how the activities of the unit are intended to contribute to the accomplishment of the purpose and functions of the affiliated academic unit and the university.
2. A clear statement of how the Ancillary Unit will be housed administratively within an existing department, program, College/School, and a description of how this unit will function organizationally, including its proposed organizational structure, how responsibilities will be assigned, and descriptions of any anticipated relationships with public or private agencies or organizations.
3. A description of any proposed advisory committee, and of the intended functions and responsibilities of the advisory committee.¹
4. A description of how accepted standards of academic research including being subject to peer review will be incorporated into the responsibilities of the unit.
5. A statement of sources of anticipated funding and the proposed plan for handling funds through the California State University, Fresno Foundation.
6. A statement on how the unit conforms to systemwide and university policies and procedures including risk management policies.
7. A projected budget and product sales, other revenues and expenditures; and a detailed listing of anticipated resources required for the successful operation of the proposed unit, including space and equipment utilization, technological support, faculty assigned time,²

B. The application for the renewal of an Ancillary Unit shall include each of the following:

1. A statement and delineation of purpose of the Ancillary Unit, that includes a description of how the activities of the unit have contributed to the accomplishment of the purpose and functions of the university.
2. A clear statement of how the Ancillary Unit is housed administratively within an existing department, program, College/School, and a description of how this unit functions organizationally, including its organizational structure, how responsibilities are assigned, and descriptions of any existing relationships with other public or private agencies or organizations.
3. A description of the accomplishments of the unit including a list of related achievements, scholarly works, or other results of the unit.
4. A statement on sources of funding and how funds are being generated and expended through the California State University, Fresno Foundation.
5. A statement on how the unit is conforming to systemwide and university policies and procedures related to risk management.
6. A copy of each of the preceding three annual reports.
7. A copy of the preceding three years' final budgets.

¹ The President appoints the membership of all advisory committees.

² If assigned time for faculty is desired, prior agreement by the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs is required.

V. PROCEDURES FOR APPROVAL OF ANCILLARY UNITS

A. General Procedures

1. Final approval to form or continue an Ancillary Unit lies with the President.
2. The President may approve a proposed Ancillary Unit or renew an established one for any period, including a relatively short experimental trial. A proposal for a new center, institute, or Ancillary Unit shall be approved for an initial three-year developmental period. Upon the completion of three years, Ancillary Units will be reviewed for active status.

B. New Ancillary Units

A proposal to establish a new Ancillary Unit will be reviewed by the department chair, by the dean of the school or college, and then forwarded to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, and finally to the President for a final decision.³ In the exceptional circumstance that an Ancillary Unit is housed within a college, division, or the Office of the Provost, the supervising administrator will review and forward the proposal. Approved new Ancillary Units will be given a three-year status as a Probationary Ancillary Unit.

C. Renewal of Probationary and Existing Ancillary Units

1. At the end of any period of approved operation, an application for renewal must be made to the President. Application for renewal will be requested annually in the year-end report.
2. The request for renewal shall be reviewed by the department chair, by the dean of the college/school, or by the head of the division forwarding a recommendation to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, who shall in turn make a recommendation to the President.

VI. ANNUAL REPORTS

1. Annual reports shall be addressed to the President and submitted with the attached cover sheet to the department chair, who in turn will forward the report to the dean of the school or college, who in turn will forward it to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs. In the exceptional circumstance that an Ancillary Unit is housed within a college, division, or in the Office of the Provost, the supervising administrator will review and forward the annual report. Copies with all signatures and recommendations will then be forwarded to the President.
2. If an Ancillary Unit allots assigned time to faculty and/or staff from another department and /or college, approval signatures must be obtained from the additional departments and colleges and should appear alongside those listed in the cover sheet form.
3. Annual reports shall be based on the fiscal year July 1 through June 30 and shall summarize the activities of the unit.

³ For the purposes of this document, “department chair” shall mean the department chair or program coordinator.

4. Annual reports shall include:
 - a. A description of the year's activities;
 - b. Numbers of on and off campus participants;
 - c. An evaluation of the effectiveness of these activities;
 - d. Sources and amounts of support;
 - e. Funds including income from service and product sales;
 - f. Other revenues and expenditures;
 - g. Space and equipment utilization;
 - h. The following year's goals and objectives; and
 - i. A request for renewal of the unit for the following year.
5. The unit's financial statement prepared by the California State University, Fresno Foundation shall be appended to the report.
6. Annual reports for all units are due no later than August 1 following the conclusion of the fiscal year.
7. Failure to submit an annual report will justify an administrative review of the center or institute that may lead to a revocation of the approval under which the unit has been operating.
8. If the annual report reveals a low level of activity or a discontinuance of activity, an administrative review may be conducted to determine the future disposition of the unit. The administrative review will result in a recommendation to the President who will make the final decision.

VII. PERIODIC REVIEWS

1. The President may discontinue an Ancillary Unit at any time.
2. The President or his/her designee may require the review of the status of an Ancillary Unit at times other than at the time of approval or scheduled renewal.
3. Should an Ancillary Unit decline dramatically in activity, violate university policies, and/or fail to submit an annual report, it may be terminated or its status may be changed to inactive.
4. The designation of inactive status can last for up to three years before termination of the Ancillary Unit will be considered. At the close of that time period, it will either be reinstated to active status or discontinued.
