BICYCLE THEFT PREVENTION

Imagine that your bike has been stolen and the police just have caught the thief. The police will need to contact you to confirm you still own the bike, and that the suspect doesn't have permission to use it. If the police can't prove it's stolen, the thief gets to go free - and ride away on your bike.

This form is designed to record your bike's identifying information, along with a way for police to contact you if they find a thief in possession of your bike - and this could be at night, on weekends, or holidays.

Please fill out as much of the information below as possible. If any information changes (contact information, new bike, etc.) please turn in an updated form. Keep your contact information current -- if you can't be reached, we most likely can't arrest the thief.
