Committee Reports

Audit Committee scheduled to meet August 28th

Branding Committee scheduled to meet August 25th

Messaging Committee met and reviewed three pertinent documents:

1. Vision Statement
2. 2005 Integrated Marketing Plan
3. Campus Hallmarks

The committee brainstormed the following:

Who is our audience? They reiterated the fact that we need to use language that is reader friendly and engaging, and that the messages should be positive and upbeat.

We then need to develop a message that serves both as the transition from our Campaign to the foundation of our campus messaging. One word is great, but perhaps a short slogan – ‘Spirit of Opportunities’ or, ‘Gateway to Opportunity’.

Communications Committee the committee met and discussed developing a timeline working into social media putting together guidelines for social messaging.

President Welty will convene the chairs of the sub committee to work out a timeline.

Leadership Blog

Shirley Armbruster reported that University Communications had developed a Leadership Blog - created with the intention of getting information to the campus leadership.

Mobile Marketing Demonstration

Katie Johnson demonstrated the newly available mobile marketing program. Our campus was selected by Harris Connect to beta test this program – at no cost to us. It requires either an iPhone or Blackberry to connect. Regular text messaging costs apply. The user will be able to connect to campus information relating to campus events and activities.

Discussion ensued regarding what events, activities, school and college updates, ‘text a librarian’ etc. would be an appropriate use for this program. It was suggested that a paragraph of copy on this program be send to the campus community.

Connecting People with Campus

At our last meeting, we discussed the background materials that led to the formation of this committee: The Friends of Fresno State Report and the report from the President’s Ad Hoc Communication advisory Task Force, chaired by Associate Provost Ellen Junn.

We need to get people connected to campus. We have a high level of lack of understanding of what we do here. Are there ways that you can think of that we can get people on campus and engaged in what we are already doing?

Action Items:

The Communications Committee is charged with developing self-guided walking tours.

The Audit Committee is charged with finding out why the community does not come to campus.

Ellen Junn is charged with discussing the school and college participation in the campus open house with the Deans.

Graphics Standards Manual Update

Bruce Whitworth presented the new standards manual to the committee, noting that it had been eight years since the last update. The major changes include printing documents, wayfinding and adding the Centennial logo. The Web and Athletics have also been included in the revised manual.

University Communications is beginning an education campaign to acquaint the campus with the new standards. The office will be available to make presentations at various committee meetings and are available for consultation.

Discussion: It is important to get the students on board with using the appropriate standards for their brochures, advertisements and flyers. Also the department administrative assistants who submit information to bulletinboard should have training on what or what not to submit; e.g. no CSUF, FSU or Fresno State University.

Noted below are the revised committee assignments:

Audit – Committee will determine how to conduct an audit of current activities. Suggestion was made to use an undergraduate marketing class or MBA team. Define the audit function – create a roadmap.
