Caroling For Cans

Associated Students, Inc. (ASI) at California State University, Fresno is partnering with the Bulldog Pantry for the annual Caroling for Cans event.

Students will be visiting select buildings on campus to sing holiday carols in exchange for items benefiting the student-run pantry. Caroling will take place Thursday, December 12 from 10 a.m. to noon.

Non-perishable food items collected will benefit the Bulldog Pantry distributions, helping those in need in the areas surrounding Fresno State for the holidays.

“Giving back during the holiday season is a great way for the university to come together and support of the families in the communities surrounding Fresno State,” said ASI Programs and Volunteer Coordinator Ashleigh Rucker.

Students are encouraged to participate in the collection of cans and the caroling. Volunteers will meet in USU Room 316 at 9:30 a.m. and are encouraged to bring an empty backpack and an “ugly” holiday sweater.

Note: Location schedule available December 10 upon request.
