T-Shirt Exchange Program

Associated Students, Inc. (ASI) is giving Fresno State students an opportunity to rock Bulldog gear by bringing back the T-Shirt Exchange Program. The program is designed to increase the Bulldog pride on campus by reducing the number of shirts worn from other campuses.

The annual T-Shirt Exchange Program allows students to swap apparel from other schools (including high schools and other colleges) for a Fresno State t-shirt. This program will begin in stride Homecoming week, Monday, October 5.

Students are encouraged to bring used t-shirts from other universities into the ASI programs office, located on the second floor of the University Student Union, room 316. In return, students will be rewarded with a new and free Fresno State t-shirt.

“We’re so excited to relaunch the t-shirt exchange program,” said ASI President Abigail Hudson. “It’s an easy way to give back to the community and make sure Fresno State students are equipped with some spirit gear.”

All swapped shirts will be donated to the Pink Cow Thrift Store at Wesley Methodist Church at the end of each semester.
