Black Male Collective

B.A.S.E. "Brotherhood. Achievement. Success.
Empowerment."

ONYX is an organization that relies on an African-centered methodological approach that presupposes that for any service designed to help designated group: of people of African descent, the group in question must be agents in their own social transformation. It also presupposes that as many Black male students are first-generation college students (or come from families with an incomplete college experience e.g. non-degreed), addressing feelings of isolation and unfamiliarity with brotherhood via peer-mentoring.
