To the Fresno State Community:

We are fortunate to have SupportNet on the Fresno State campus. This program is offered at many other colleges across the country, and it has proven to be effective in helping students succeed in their courses.

SupportNet provides a central location where faculty and staff can refer students who are having academic or personal difficulties. Students are then referred to the appropriate resources on campus, so faculty and staff are not required to know all of the resources available. Students can also seek SupportNet services on their own, and this level of self-responsibility is a positive step toward their academic success.

We encourage you to take advantage of the help that is available through SupportNet by referring any students who seem to be struggling with personal issues or academic challenges. Together, we can help our students access the resources they need to successfully complete their coursework and earn their degree.
