

Bricks & Pieces #1 :: 9:30 – 10:20am

Workshop Title	Presenter/Facilitator	Competency
Asset-Based Thinking: Using Individual's Talents and Interests to Create Change As a student leader you have a good understanding of your own strengths and talents, but how often do you think about the talents and interests of individuals within the student groups you work with? We'll focus on exploring asset-based thinking and engage in activities that will help us understand how to use this strategy when working with groups to create change.	Dr. Sarah Whitley, Sociology	Creating Change
Becoming Master Builders of Collaboration In "The LEGO Movie," Master Builders are classified as a group of elite builders and creators that made the Lego universe. Without their creativity, quick thinking, and determination to work together, Lord Business would have continued creating borders and stifling innovative thinking and collaboration across the Lego universe. In this workshop, become a Master Builder of Collaboration through learning critical tools that will help you identify the obstacles to collaboration and your role in overcoming these barriers, and understand the value of "togetherness" and why needing each other isn't a bad thing.	Katie Williamson, Learning & Wellness	Collaboration
Building a Campus Event Room reservations? Catering waivers? Facilities requests? Planning an event on campus requires navigating policies and procedures of multiple campus departments. Come hear tips and tricks from the FresCon event planners on the pieces needed to build a campus event.	Spencer Smith & Liz Krulder, Pick Your Potion & FresCon	Self- Development
Fine Art of Collaboration Drawing on his years of service in the military, Retired Lt. Col. Rios discusses his experiences with collaboration as it relates to leading international and interagency teams in coordination and cooperation in both peace-keeping and combat operations.	Lorenzo Rios Clovis Veterans Memorial District	Collaboration
Gender 101 He, she, they? Gender binary, transgender, cisgender, genderqueer? This workshop will create a space to learn more about the populations and terminology.	Jessica Adams Cross-Cultural & Gender Center	Diversity
Mentally Strong Leaders Leaders have vision. Great leaders take their vision and turn it into reality by using a variety of mental skills. The emphasis of this workshop is to: (a) discuss how great leaders become great, (b) share their mental skills secrets, and (c) help participants learn mental skills through applied activities so that they may build and maximize their leadership effectiveness.	Dr. Jenelle Gilbert, Kinesiology	Self- Development

Bricks & Pieces #2 :: 10:30 – 11:20am

Workshop Title	Presenter/Facilitator	Competency
Deconstructing Microaggressions Students will learn about the three types of microaggressions, and how power and privilege can be used as a tool by being a leader. Participants will also learn about "Invitation for Repair", a strategy to unite people from diverse backgrounds by also acknowledging their differences.	Melissa Henry University Courtyard	Diversity
How Well Do You Know Your Fellow Fresno State Students? As a student leader, you have the potential to engage with over 23,000 Fresno State students. But how well do you know the unique demographics and characteristics of the very population that you work with and serve? Test your knowledge, learn more about the Fresno State student population, and walk away with strategies on how to best engage and collaborate with your fellow students.	Gerry Elizondo, Student Involvement Center	Diversity
Leading Innovation using Design Thinking Learn how to apply this five-step model to help ideate, prototype, and test new ideas to help solve campus issues.	Dr. Rudy Sanchez, CSALT & TILT	Creating Change
Using your iPad to be a Better Leader Come and see how you can leverage some amazing apps to make your life easier, more productive, and healthier. Turn your tablet into a powerful tool that can help you be more efficient and effective as a leader.	Mike Pronovost & Chris Vieira, Provost's Office & TILT	Self- Development
You have to be HEARD to be believed! As a leader, communication is key! This workshop will provide examples and engage participants in activities to demonstrate ways to ensure that communication is clear.	Dr. Don Simmons, Sociology	Creating Change
Power Mapping The work you do and the people you serve have power! This workshop will help you identify more clearly those who hold power and assist you on your organization's path to success. Utilizing a 2-step system, leaders will identify constituents and the impact these powerful people have on our work.	Renee Delpert, Richter Center	Collaboration

Bricks & Pieces #3 :: 2:10 – 3:00pm

Workshop Title	Presenter/Facilitator	Competency
Bricks & Pieces of Creating Change So you want to have a conversation with your organization about changes, or next steps? How will you do that and make sure that you are engaging everyone in the process? This session will teach participants activities to facilitate to encourage organization members to create changes in the group or community.	Kathleen Scott & Tom Gaffery, Administrative Services	Creating Change

Let's Talk Communication Intercultural communication skills are essential for leaders. This workshop will demonstrate positive communication skills that leaders can use to be inclusive.	Dr. Shane Moreman, Communication	Diversity
Constructing Leadership Experience Into Your Resume (Some Assembly Required) As student leaders, you have the opportunity to develop many transferable skills in your various roles; gaining knowledge, skills and abilities that employers seek on a resume. Before you can effectively communicate your skills to an employer, it is important for you to reflect on your experiences. You should review the competencies gained and strategize how to communicate each of your transferable skills through a resume, and ultimately an interview.	Aleta Wolfe, Career Development Center	Self- Development
Empathy Map Through this workshop, you'll develop a deeper understanding of the people you serve, and be able to apply that knowledge to potential ideas, plans, and projects to be more effective.	Richter Center Ambassadors	Diversity
Personal-Branding Through this workshop, you'll learn what personal branding is, as well as tips to begin marketing YOU with integrity!	Betsy Hays, Mass Communication & Journalism	Self- Development