Benefits

The California Department of Insurance permits you to transfer benefits between your policies. This means that when you buy a new policy, you can carry over unused benefits from your old policy. To do this, you must complete a form and file it with your insurance company. The following are the benefits you can transfer:

- Life Insurance
- Health Insurance
- Disability Insurance
- Long-Term Care Insurance
- Accident Insurance

Your health insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions. Your life insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions.

When you transfer your benefits, you must file a form with your insurance company. The form will include your name, policy number, and the amount of benefits you wish to transfer. You must also provide your Social Security number and date of birth.

If you transfer benefits, your insurance company will send you a new policy with the transferred benefits. You will receive a new policy number and policy terms and conditions.

If you have any questions about transferring benefits, please contact your insurance company.

Your health insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions. Your life insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions.

When you transfer your benefits, you must file a form with your insurance company. The form will include your name, policy number, and the amount of benefits you wish to transfer. You must also provide your Social Security number and date of birth.

If you transfer benefits, your insurance company will send you a new policy with the transferred benefits. You will receive a new policy number and policy terms and conditions.

If you have any questions about transferring benefits, please contact your insurance company.

Your health insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions. Your life insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions.

When you transfer your benefits, you must file a form with your insurance company. The form will include your name, policy number, and the amount of benefits you wish to transfer. You must also provide your Social Security number and date of birth.

If you transfer benefits, your insurance company will send you a new policy with the transferred benefits. You will receive a new policy number and policy terms and conditions.

If you have any questions about transferring benefits, please contact your insurance company.

Your health insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions. Your life insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions.

When you transfer your benefits, you must file a form with your insurance company. The form will include your name, policy number, and the amount of benefits you wish to transfer. You must also provide your Social Security number and date of birth.

If you transfer benefits, your insurance company will send you a new policy with the transferred benefits. You will receive a new policy number and policy terms and conditions.

If you have any questions about transferring benefits, please contact your insurance company.

Your health insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions. Your life insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions.

When you transfer your benefits, you must file a form with your insurance company. The form will include your name, policy number, and the amount of benefits you wish to transfer. You must also provide your Social Security number and date of birth.

If you transfer benefits, your insurance company will send you a new policy with the transferred benefits. You will receive a new policy number and policy terms and conditions.

If you have any questions about transferring benefits, please contact your insurance company.

Your health insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions. Your life insurance policy will continue with the same company and may have different terms and conditions.

When you transfer your benefits, you must file a form with your insurance company. The form will include your name, policy number, and the amount of benefits you wish to transfer. You must also provide your Social Security number and date of birth.

If you transfer benefits, your insurance company will send you a new policy with the transferred benefits. You will receive a new policy number and policy terms and conditions.

If you have any questions about transferring benefits, please contact your insurance company.
When a work injury or illness occurs...

1. If emergency medical care is needed, call 911 or go to the nearest emergency room.

2. Report to your employer's representative or call DWC Information & Assistance office:
   - Tracy Gurna 278-4212
   - 5055 Mariposa 84070
   - 2550 Mariposa 84070
   - 559-445-5355

Workers’ Compensation Fraud is a felony.

Anyone who makes or causes to be made any knowingly false or fraudulent material statement for the purpose of obtaining or denying workers’ compensation benefits or payments is guilty of a felony.