MISSION of the COUNSELOR EDUCATION PROGRAM

The counselor education faculty in the Department of Counselor Education and Rehabilitation has the responsibility for providing quality graduate programs in the counseling professions. The Counselor Education Program has four major areas of emphasis: 1) Marriage, Family, and Child Counseling (MFCC); 2) Student Affairs and College Counseling, School Counseling and the PPS Credential, for work in the schools. Additionally, a Criminal Justice Counseling Specialist Certificate is offered as an adjunctive curriculum to MFT and graduate level Criminology students. Our mission is to provide quality instruction and to contribute to our community through research, technical assistance, partnerships, training and other related public service activities. Our primary service areas include Fresno, Madera, Kings, and Tulare counties.
Instructional programs within the Kremen School of Education and Human Development (KSOEHD) have adopted the theme “Making a Difference in a Diverse Society,” and strive to develop reflective, collaborative learners at the advanced credential and graduate program levels. Our programmatic goals include the following:

1. To provide a curriculum that successfully integrates counseling theory with research and practice.
2. To recruit and retain talented and culturally diverse students.
3. To provide field placements that are relevant to the educational needs of each student.
4. To monitor students' progress throughout the program.
5. To help students develop a sense of professional identity as counselors.
6. To contribute to the counseling profession through local, regional and national service.
7. To provide class offerings that meet the needs of students and support the completion of the degree and/or PPS credential in a timely manner.
8. To provide a framework for collaborative study and research with schools, community agencies, private practices, and state institutions of higher learning.
9. To encourage the study and exploration of current societal issues such as substance abuse, disabilities, divorce, blended families, at risk students, career differences, cultural diversity, life styles, and other related issues.
10. To promote and encourage graduate student participation in a variety of research and scholarly activities.

ENDORSEMENT POLICY

The California State University, Fresno M.S. in Counseling program will only recommend and/or endorse students and graduates for employment or credentialing for positions for which they were trained.

CACREP
The M.S. in Counseling, MFCC Option is accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP), the specialized accrediting body for professional counseling. CACREP accreditation means the MFCC program has met minimum national standards for counselor education. This accreditation allows students to sit for the National Counseling Exam (NCE) during their last year of the program and after they graduate. Students graduating from CACREP approved programs do not have to accrue any supervised counseling hours post graduation in order to sit for the NCE.

NCE
The National Counselor Examination for Licensure and Certification (NCE) is one of the criteria used to evaluate counseling professionals who may be eligible to become National Certified Counselors (NCC). The NCE is also used by most states as part of the state credentialing or licensure process. The purpose of the NCE is to access professional counselors’ knowledge of counseling information and skills viewed as important for providing appropriate counseling services.

The exam is based on the following eight content areas:

- Human Growth & Development
- Social & Cultural Foundations
- Helping Relationships
- Group Work
- Career & Lifestyle Development
- Appraisal
- Research & Program Evaluation
- Professional Orientation & Ethics

The NCE is also based on the following five work behaviors:

- Fundamental Counseling Practices
- Counseling for Career Development
- Counseling Groups
- Counseling Families
- Professional Practice

SECTION I
GENERAL POLICIES OF THE DIVISION OF GRADUATE STUDIES

Maintaining Post Baccalaureate Standing

When a student is admitted to the university as a post baccalaureate student, he/she can maintain this standing by enrolling in and completing one or more courses each semester. Summer session or Extended Education enrollment may not maintain a student's admission status. Please consult with your advisor.

Re-Admission to Graduate Standing

Former students who completed an undergraduate degree and who have not enrolled in one or more subsequent courses during a semester and are planning to return to the university and take more courses must go the CSUF Admissions office and complete an application for post baccalaureate standing. Students seeking re-admission after being absent for two or more consecutive semesters must also pay the university admission fee.

Change of Major

Students who have not declared a specific degree program on the CSUF admission application must complete a Change of Major form. This form can be obtained from the Division of Graduate Studies Office

http://www.csufresno.edu/gradstudies/forms/forms.shtml

This will result in the formation of a university file with a specific degree goal, which is required for graduate program enrollment.

Student Enrollment Status

For the purposes of reporting enrollments, students taking twelve (12) or more graduate units are considered full-time and students taking less than 12 units are considered part-time.

For purposes of financial aid recording, each graduate unit (200 series courses) that a student takes is counted as 1.5 units and each undergraduate unit (100 series courses) is counted at face value. Therefore, a full-time student would take 12 "equivalent units". A student enrolled in 9 units of 200 series courses would be considered full-time. A student enrolled in fewer than 9 graduate units is considered part-time. For more information, please contact Financial Aid at http://www.csufresno.edu/gradstudies/financial/index.shtml
Time Limitations

Graduate students are allowed five (5) years to complete all requirements for the master's degree. This time limit is indicated on the approved advancement to candidacy form that can be obtained at the following web site:

http://www.csufresno.edu/gradstudies/handbook/forms.html

Courses that are completed after the five-year limit cannot be used to meet total unit requirements for the degree. There are two exceptions to this rule: Advancement to Candidacy form; or 2) approval by the graduate dean and the department of a maximum of one-third of the required degree units as shown on the Recommendation for Course Validation form which can be obtained at the following web-site:

http://www.csufresno.edu/gradstudies/forms/forms.shtml#anchoratc

Independent Study

Independent Study is available to students who wish to outline a course of study on their own initiative under departmental supervision. Independent study should deal with an area of interest that is not normally covered in a regular course. The intent is to explore a subject in greater depth than was presented in a course.

To be eligible for independent study, the student should have an overall GPA of at least 3.0. A maximum of six (6) units of graduate level coursework (COUN 290) is allowed toward the Master's degree with a maximum of three (3) units allowed per semester.

To enroll in independent study, students must:

A. Obtain an Independent Study form from CSR Department office located in ED 350.

B. Obtain the approval of a full-time faculty member who will supervise the independent study and the department chair. Approval must be obtained before receiving the schedule number for registration.

C. A student may register for COUN 190 or COUN 290 independent study during early registration, late registration, summer session, or during the first two weeks of instruction.

D. When the independent study is completed, the student must submit a written report to the instructor who is then responsible for submitting a grade to the University Admissions office.

Grade Requirements

Graduate students must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.0 on all work taken after admission to the program. A grade of B or better is required in certain courses in the program; e.g., Practicum courses.
Program Adjustment

Students wishing to request substitutions or revisions in a department's degree requirements should complete a Master's Degree Program Adjustment Request. This form can be obtained from the Student Services Office through the Admissions Technician, ED 151. The request form must be approved by the department program coordinator as well as by the KSOEHD Graduate Programs Coordinator.

Appeals

When a student is not approved for a program, an appeal procedure exists. Any appeal made by the student is required in writing and must contain documentary evidence stating justification for an appeal. The appeal is directed to the Program Coordinator who reviews the information and carries it forward to the Faculty Review Committee for action. It is the general rule of the Faculty Review Committee to meet personally with the applicant and discuss the appeal in detail. In the event this procedure does not fit the personal needs of the students, the student may then take the appeal through the School and to the University, based on procedures printed in the University Catalog.

Academic Appeals

Students on the California State University, Fresno campus have access to a written procedure for filing an appeal or a grievance through the Dean of Student Affairs Office. The following information is provided each student through the general catalog of the University.

The student must first make a good faith effort to solve the matter informally by talking directly with the individual concerned, the individual's direct supervisor (or department chair) and the program coordinator or (school dean). If resolution is not effected through the informal procedures, students should contact the Dean of Student Affairs Office for assistance and for a copy of the formal procedures for filing a grievance.

In addition to providing written policies on due process and grievance procedures for faculty and staff, the University also has in place well defined student policies for student rights, grade protest, and review processes for student petitions. The process for grade protest is outlined in the Academic Policy Manual (p. 242-3 to 6) and the university’s General Catalog, the Schedule of Courses, and on a handout from the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs. The policy detailing the student academic petition process is available in the General Catalog or at

Advisement

Once admitted to the program, the Graduate Technician in the Student Services Office, ED 151, will assign students to a faculty advisor. If a student wishes to have a specific faculty member as an advisor, a request must be made, in writing, to the Graduate Admissions Technician. Additionally, a “New Student Orientation” is held the first week of each spring and fall semesters.

Each faculty member also serves as program advisors. The role of the advisor is to provide guidance in the selection and sequencing of courses. Upon acceptance into a program, each student is sent a letter, which includes the name of his/her assigned advisor. When that information is received, students are urged to make contact with their advisor, meet, and plan his/her program. An advisor in the program is expected to:

A. Meet with students and assist them with course planning.

B. Provide information to students regarding their selected field of study.

C. Monitor student’s progress and maintain progress files for each advisee.

D. Write letters of recommendations, letters of support for University programs such as financial aid, and other information letters University officials might require.
E. Meet and confer with prospective students who have an intent to apply to a counseling program.

Please note: Refer to the CSR web page at http://education.csufresno.edu/CSR/ for additional advising information.

Student Competency in the Program

Student competency in the program begins when the student applies for a program, becomes eligible for review in a selected program and continues until the program is completed. It is the intent of the counselor education faculty to monitor a student throughout the program by way of the advisement plan and offering support and guidance when the need arises. Through this interactive process, a professional identity is fostered encouraging students to maintain a sense of professional responsibility. In the event that a student is identified as not meeting expected academic and professional standards, the student may be placed upon probation as outlined in the Educational Code. The faculty has the responsibility to notify a student who is not progressing well in the program and if needed, placing a student on probation. At that time, the student meets with an ad hoc faculty committee, which includes the student's advisor, to discuss the candidate's future in the program. The faculty reserves the right to ask for dismissal of a candidate who is determined to be unsuited to be a counseling professional and will consider candidate appeals based on University policy.

Clinical Review Committee

Students are evaluated throughout their time in the Counselor Education Program. Formal dispositional evaluations, Clinical Review, are completed for all students during the semester in which they complete COUN 208. COUN 208 instructors complete the Clinical Review form and present it to the Clinical Review Committee. Students not passing Clinical Review will be notified via mail and will meet with their COUN 208 instructor, Clinical Review Committee Chair, and Program Coordinator to review the established remediation plan. Students may appeal the decision of the Clinical Review Committee to the Department Chair within two weeks of the meeting. All appeals must be in writing. Students must pass Clinical Review to progress through additional practica and field experience courses. Students must receive an evaluation of satisfactory progress by the Clinical Review Committee before they may proceed to other practical experiences in the program.

In addition, any faculty member may present concerns regarding a student’s academic progress, dispositional characteristics, emotional stability, and professional fit to the Clinical Review Committee at any time during the student’s tenure in the program. If the Clinical Review Committee deems remediation is warranted, the Clinical Review Committee Chair will request a meeting with the student, referring instructor, and Program Coordinator to review the necessary steps for remediation. Students may appeal the decision of the Clinical Review Committee to the Department Chair within two weeks of the meeting. All appeals must be in writing.
Classification

Classification (full admission) is dependent upon the completion of all admission requirements and procedures. Usually, students receive classified standing at the time of admission into the program. However, some students may be conditionally admitted to the program pending completion of prerequisite courses or other admission requirements. In such cases, the student must fulfill all prerequisites and attain a classified standing no later than the semester in which the student completes ten (10) units toward the Master’s degree. Applicants for the MS in Counseling programs and Pupil Personnel Services Credential are required to attain classified standing prior to enrollment in any 200-series counseling courses.

Students will receive a letter from the KSOEHD Graduate Technician notifying their attainment of classified standing. This is an important document and students are urged to keep a copy or this letter in their files when discussing their program with their advisor.

Advancement to Candidacy

Advancement to candidacy grants a student permission to work toward qualifying as a candidate for the Master's degree. It establishes the catalog year and requirements that a student must fulfill to graduate. Advancement to candidacy must be attained one (1) semester prior to the term in which the student wishes to register for COUN 298-Project or COUN 299-Thesis or Comprehensive Examination.

Requirements/Procedures for advancement to candidacy include the following:

The graduate programs in counseling at CSUF, collectively known as the Counselor Education (CE) Program, provide students with the skills and knowledge appropriate for counseling work in community agencies, school systems, private practice and/or the private business sector. The goal of the CE Program is to prepare students to deliver professional counseling services in their anticipated work setting.

The programs are structured to provide both theoretical emphasis and practical application. The CE Program has earned special recognition from the Western Association for Counselor Education and Supervision (WACES) by receiving the Exemplary Program Award for outstanding innovations in providing professional preparation for counselors. WACES is a subdivision of the Association for Counselor Education and Supervision (ACES) which is a division of the American Counseling Association (ACA). ACA is the national association dedicated to the field of counseling. The Rehabilitation Counseling Program has been fully accredited by the Council on Rehabilitation Education (CORE) since 1974. The MS in Counseling; option in Marriage and Family Therapy program is accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) which is a nationally recognized accreditation body for counselor education programs. CACREP seeks to ensure that programs meet the accreditation standards and requirements to provide students with the skills necessary to be effective counselors. PPS is accredited by the California Commission of Teacher Credentialing (CCTC). The CE Program offers several graduate degrees in counseling:

Program Policies

Student Evaluation

Students are expected to maintain satisfactory progress throughout their graduate program. An evaluation is conducted during the COUN 208 and COUN 238 courses to assess the student's progress. Should any concern arise at this checkpoint, faculty will consult with the student to determine the best course of action. Students are expected to maintain a minimum GPA of 3.0. If a student's GPA falls below 3.0, he/she will need to consult with his/her advisor and may be asked to leave the program.

Cheating and Plagiarism

Cheating is the practice of fraudulent or deceptive acts for the purpose of improving a grade or obtaining course credit. Typically, such acts occur in relation to examinations. Plagiarism is a specific form of cheating that consists of the misuse of the published and/or unpublished works of another by representing the material so used as one’s own work. Both cheating and plagiarism are grounds for expulsion, suspension, and/or probation of students.

Liability Insurance

All students enrolled in the graduate programs in counseling are required to carry professional liability insurance to complete the assessment, practicum and fieldwork courses. Students can obtain information on insurance coverage from the faculty who teach the practicum and field placement and internship programs, their faculty advisor or from the Coordinator of the CE Program.

Degree Completion

The time it takes a student to complete the MS or PPS credential programs depends upon which program track the student follows. Full-time students typically complete a maximum of 15 units per semester while part-time students usually complete a maximum of 9 units per semester. The actual time taken to complete the degree depends upon the student's pace. For example, a full-time student can complete a 60-unit degree program in 5 semesters or two years while a part-time student may take three or more years to complete the same degree. The following is a description of program options and course requirements. Students are encouraged to talk with their advisor to determine a suggested course road map. Suggestions for course sequencing can be found on the CER Department webpage at: http://www.csufresno.edu/kremen/cser/graduate/forms.html

The Counseling option in MFT curriculum is comprised of a competency based program and course objectives for each course are designed and written with approval from the faculty as a whole. Faculty review and rate/revise objectives based upon input from faculty, student end of course evaluations, and changes brought about by state licensing boards. A Counseling Advisory Board meets two times a year to review and comment directly on changes recommended by the faculty. Feedback is received from on-site supervisors from local agencies and institutions regarding the addition or deletion of materials within the program. When students graduate from the program, they are asked to complete a questionnaire covering the training program and at that time recommend changes for the program. NCE

For information regarding the National Counseling Examination, please see the NBCC Campus Coordinator for the counseling program. If you are in a CACREP program that is participating in the NBCC/CACREP:

✓ You may take the NCE prior to graduation if you are in the final academic year of your master’s program.

✓ You have reduced fees and a later deadline than regular applicants applying for the National Certified Counselor (NCC) credential.

✓ The 3,000 hours of post-master’s experience required for the NCC credential is waived, so you could be nationally certified right after graduation.

✓ You can take the NCE on campus, rather than having to travel to a national site.

✓ If you will be seeking licensure in a state, which uses the NCE, you can complete part of that state’s credentialing process.

SECTION VI

PROJECT, THESIS, or COMPREHENSIVE EXAM REQUIREMENT

A culminating experience, COUN 298-Project, or COUN 299-Thesis, or Comprehensive Examination is required to attain the MS in Counseling, Counseling and Student Services option or the MS in Counseling, Marriage, Family, and Child Counseling option. The policies and procedures manual for project or thesis are provided to students enrolled in ERA 220: Research Methods or by the Graduate Admissions technician. Examples of previous project/thesis abstracts are available for students in the faculty offices (Project) or the University Library (Thesis).

COUN 298-Project

A project consists of a significant scholarly undertaking that is relevant to the field of counseling. It must demonstrate originality, independent thinking, good organization, and writing proficiency that is commensurate with graduate level work. The completed project includes a comprehensive literature review and a creative project component. Procedures for completing the requirements for project are as follows:

A. Attain advancement to candidacy and completed a minimum of 24 semester units with a B or better including ERA 220.
B. Select a faculty member who will supervise the project.
C. Develop a project proposal. An example of this proposal is given in the "Policies and Procedures Manual" for 298/Project.
D. Obtain a schedule number from the Admissions Technician in ED 151 for 298/Project and register for the course.
E. Complete all work on 298/Project in consultation with the faculty supervisor.
F. Meet with supervisor and receive final editing and endorsement.
G. Complete final typing and get the project bound, including the abstract.
H. Submit the final project to the supervisor, which will include the project report and one copy of the abstract.
I. The final grade for project is awarded by the faculty supervisor.
COUN 299-Thesis

A thesis is a written product of the study of a specific or well-defined question or issue which merits being investigated. It is a document resulting from original research and includes the following elements: statement of the problem, review of relevant theoretical and empirical literature, methodology, results and implications. The thesis format can take two forms, empirical or theoretical. For more information, consult the "Policies and Procedures Manual for 299/Thesis."

Students become eligible to register for COUN 299-Thesis once the research topic has been formulated, a thesis committee has been established and a substantial amount of the initial writing has been completed. Students are encouraged to initiate this process at least one (1) semester prior to enrolling in 299/Thesis.

Procedures for completing a thesis include the following:

A. Develop a thesis prospectus which includes the description of the problem, justification and statement of purpose. Also obtain a thesis formatted disk from the Graduate Studies office.

B. Submit the prospectus to one's selected faculty members. Usually, at least two of the faculty members are selected from the CER department and have specific content expertise while the third faculty member typically has expertise in methodology. This group will be known as the Thesis Proposal Committee and will include three (3) members.

C. The thesis prospectus is expanded and developed into the thesis proposal which consists of the following first three chapters:
   - Chapter 1 Introduction
   - Chapter 2 Review of Literature
   - Chapter 3 Methodology

D. The student will meet with the Thesis Proposal Committee who will examine and assess the thesis proposal. The committee either approves the thesis proposal or recommends further development. After approval of the thesis proposal, the committee will then be known as the Thesis Committee.

E. The final stages of the thesis development include the collection of research data and completion of the written report. In addition to the first three chapters, the completed thesis should also include:
   - Chapter 4 - Results
   - Chapter 5 - Conclusions

F. The student will then complete a final oral review of his/her thesis with the Thesis Committee.

G. The student will submit an "Approved for Final Submission" form with the completed thesis to the Division of Graduate Studies office.

H. The thesis will be reviewed and returned to the student by an official from the University Graduate Studies Office. Once received, the student will make the necessary corrections and then submit the final publication copy back to the Graduate Studies Office.
Comprehensive Exam Policy

For a culminating experience, students in the MS Counseling with Options in Marriage, Family, and Child Counseling, Student Affairs and College Counseling, and School Counseling may elect to take a Comprehensive Exam during the final stages of their program. (This Comprehensive Exam option does not preclude doing a project or thesis for those students desiring more research preparation.) Students choosing the comprehensive exam must be advanced to candidacy before registering for the exam. Please note that it is university policy that once a student officially registers for one of the three culminating experiences the culminating experience chosen cannot be changed.

Students in the MFCC option should complete 40 units by the end of the semester in which they take their exam, students in Student Affairs and College Counseling and School Counseling options should complete 27 units by the end of the semester in which they take their exam.

The two-part exam consists of 100 multiple-choice questions and essay questions. Approximately 50% of the multiple-choice questions will come from the core counseling courses and the balance will come from the content areas of your specialization. The multiple-choice section of the test will be two-hours long and administered in a designated area on campus (unless special arrangements have been made for those with special needs—see below). The essay portion will be administered in the computer lab. You will be allowed three-hours to complete this portion of the exam (unless special arrangements have been made for those with special needs). The essay portion will require an integration and application of theory to a case vignette. (See below for more information on this portion of the exam.)

Students should expect to study for a minimum of six months prior to the exam in order to pass the exam.

You are directed to the University Policy on Cheating and Plagiarism published in the University Catalogue, the Schedule of Courses each semester, and in the Academic Policy and Procedures Manual in the Department office.

Registration for the Exam

The Comprehensive Exam will be given once a semester. The date of the exam will be announced during the initial weeks of the semester. Typically, exams are conducted during the final five to six weeks of the semester. It is YOUR RESPONSIBILITY to register for the exam with the department administrative assistant. Failure to register and take the exam in a timely fashion will DELAY YOUR GRADUATION and might result in further financial expenses as you may need to pay graduate continuation fees.
Format of Exam

Sections Covered in the Multiple Choice Portion of the Exam

1. CORE Sections for all students:
   As mentioned earlier, approximately 50% of the multiple-choice questions will cover core curricula taken by all counseling students. These areas include: Human Growth and Development, Multicultural Dimensions in Counseling, Helping Relationships, Group Counseling, Career Development, Assessment, Research, Professional Orientation, and Ethics (Ethics Code of the American Counseling Association).

2. Specialized Sections:
   The remaining 50% of the multiple-choice section of the exam will cover topics that are relevant to your specializations.

Sections Covered in the Essay Portion of the Exam

1. MFCC Students: The essay portion of the MFCC exam will include questions addressing a single case vignette. All questions will require you to apply what you have learned throughout the program to a specific case family. The questions will address the following:
   - Assess the case family including strengths, multi-cultural issues, diagnostic assessment, and systemic assessment.
   - Identify legal and ethical issues related to the case.
   - Treatment of the case using one theoretical approach, including identifying the focus of treatment for the family based on the theory, developing a treatment plan with goals and interventions based on the theory, and adapting the theory to address diversity issues.

   Answers that just describe therapeutic interventions associated with the respective theories will not be accepted. You must pick interventions appropriate to the family described in the vignette. This paper must be typed in the computer lab.
2. School Counseling students: The essay portion of the School Counseling exam will include questions addressing a consultation vignette. All questions will require you to apply what you have learned throughout the program to a specific situation. The questions will address the following:

- Provide intervention for the case using one model of consultation, including establishing a consulting relationship, identifying the problem(s), implementing strategies for intervention, exploring school/community resources, and conducting outcome evaluation.
- Adapt the models to address diversity issues.
- Identify legal and ethical issues related to the case.

Answers must always be connected to the particular case and you must address all areas of the questions posed.

3. SACC students: The essay portion of the Student Affairs and College Counseling comprehensive exam will include questions addressing a single case vignette. All questions will require you to apply what you have learned throughout the program to a specific case. The questions will address the following:

- Identification of a particular Student Services area for addressing the case
- Description and application of one theory of student development
- Challenges, Needs and Multicultural Issues to be considered
- Professional Ethics and Standards (Council for the Advancement of Standards in Higher Education)

- Evaluation of intervention

Answers must always be connected to the particular case and you must address all areas of the questions posed.

In-Text Citations

For the essay part of the exam, students are expected to provide in-text citations to support their answers. In-text citations include author name and year of publication (i.e., Anderson & Goolishian, 1982; Keeney, 1982; Whitaker, 1965). Students are NOT EXPECTED to memorize the full citation (i.e., author, year, title, publisher).

Special Needs

All reasonable accommodations as required by the Americans with Disabilities Act will be made. If you have a disability that requires special accommodations it is incumbent on you to request these accommodations through Services for Students with Disabilities.
Grading
Seventy percent (70%) on each section is needed to pass. A Faculty Review Committee comprised of two program faculty will evaluate the essay portion of the exam. If there is a discrepancy in scoring between the two readers as to whether the essay passes or fails then a third faculty member will be asked to review and score the essay question. The average of the three scores will be the final score for the essay. Students will be identified only by their student identification number.

Failure
Failure on a section of the exam (multiple choice question portion or essay portion) will require you to take the failed section of the exam again during the next scheduled administration. The exam may be taken three times. After the second failure you will need to meet with the Faculty Review Committee to explore options. After the third failure your Masters Degree will be denied.

Appeals
Students may appeal the Faculty Review Committee’s decision to the Comprehensive Exam Committee. Any appeal must be made in writing within two weeks of receiving their comprehensive examination results. The Comprehensive Examination Committee is comprised of full-time counseling faculty. The Committee will render a final decision regarding the completion of the comprehensive exam. The committee will also be available to meet with the student to discuss findings and provide suggestions for remediation.
