

SAN JOAQUIN REVIEW

Call for Submissions

The San Joaquin Review is currently accepting submissions for the 2019 issue in poetry, fiction, creative nonfiction and visual art.

SJR is a literary journal that publishes art from the Central Valley. Established in 1963, SJR has published many past and current Fresno State students and faculty. Past contributors include: Philip Levine, Larry Levis, Peter Everwine, C. G. Hanzlicek, Luis Omar Salinas, Glover Davis, Gary Soto, and Bryan Turner. SJR is edited and published by graduate students in the Fresno State MFA Program in Creative Writing.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES:

Poetry: Up to five (5) poems, not to exceed 10 pages
Fiction & Creative Nonfiction: Not to exceed 5,000 words
Visual Art: Limit of 6 images

Please email submissions to sanjoaquinreview@gmail.com as a .doc, .rtf, or .jpg attachment and paste it in the body of the email. The body of your email should also contain your name, phone number, email address, and affiliation with Fresno State.

DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSIONS: MARCH 29, 2019