

Ian Rodrigues

Who he is:

Ian is currently a senior at California State University Fresno in the Smittcamp Honors College majoring in Mechanical Engineering. He grew up in the Sierra Nevadas near Fresno. Ian loves learning and perfecting new skills.

Personal interests:

He loves the outdoors and spends most of his free time doing outdoor activities. Ian is an amateur dirt bike rider, avid backpacker, and fly fisherman.

Summary of Internship:

His role at NORESO is the Construction Management Intern. This internship consists of observing the construction process and helping to coordinate communications between all the project stakeholders. Much of what he does is walking the sites with Project Managers, observing what is involved in the construction process, and how information is communicated between Subcontractors, Contractors, Project Management, Regulatory Officials, and the Client. Recently, he has been involved in drafting plans and exhibits for installation of new building automation control units.