The Golden Age of Spain, 1600-1700: Ribera, Zurbaran, Velazquez and Murillo

THURSDAYS | Mar. 3, 10, 17, 24

10:30 a.m. - 12 p.m.

LOCATION: ED140 and Zoom

$40

Presenter: Dr. Gina Strumwasser

The legacy of Mannerist painter, El Greco, provided a significant impact on subsequent Spanish artists. From the late 16th century, Spain initiated a novel and inspired pictorial style (ca. 1600-1700). Painters Ribera and Velazquez traveled to Italy and there established an important connection to the Baroque. Zurbaran's introspective and haunting chiaroscuro produced a depth in the depiction of sacred images that rivaled Caravaggio's. Highly spiritual and vigorously religious, Murillo's restrained style enhanced the portrayal of Madonnas that future painters of Mexico would embrace and emulate. Changes in the status of artists, the spectator's interactive, emotional encounter with the painting and the evolution of unorthodox approaches to venerated subjects articulate the contribution of Spain's Golden Age.

Soviet Russia: An Insider's Perspective

TUESDAYS | Mar. 8, 15, 22, 29

1 - 2:30 p.m.

LOCATION: Zoom

$40

Presenter: Dr. Asya Pereltsvaig

What was life in the Soviet Union like? This class combines history lectures with an insider's view of someone born and raised in the USSR. The Bolshevik Revolution, followed by several years of civil war and foreign intervention, changed not only the political structure of the country, but its economy, its social fabric and even the nature of the most personal relationships among its citizens. In this course, we will consider the Soviet planned economy, its repressive dictatorial political regime and its imperial nature. We will explore why the majority of Russians today admire Putin despite a growing economic crisis, why they are so intolerant of homosexuality, why Russian women hate feminism, and other similar issues that perplex a Western observer. By evaluating the balance sheets of the last century of Russian history, we will ponder the future of Russia and its role in international affairs.

Cognitive Biases: Why the Instincts That Kept Our Ancestors Alive Lead Us to Make Poor Decisions

TUESDAY | Mar. 29

10 - 11:30 a.m.

LOCATION: Zoom

Presenter: Dr. Kjir Hendrickson

Despite the fact that the world has changed drastically, human brains have not evolved to any significant degree over the last 50,000 years. In trying to make sense of the challenges and problems associated with the modern world, we are in essence running “new software on 50,000 year-old hardware,” which leads to a variety of problems. Chief among these, the instincts that helped our ancestors survive – the tendency to assume that if one event followed another, the first caused the second – are often problematic in today’s world. As we make decisions (what to eat, whether to get vaccinated for the flu, whether to trust a news article), we are literally battling with our instincts. In this class, we’ll learn about a variety of cognitive biases built into the human brain and address how they negatively impact decision-making.

Quantum Physics

TUESDAY | Apr. 5

10 - 11:30 a.m.

LOCATION: Zoom

Presenter: Dr. Kjir Hendrickson

Join Dr. Hendrickson (an erstwhile quantum mechanic) for a sojourn into the strange land of quantum physics. This branch of modern physics deals specifically with light and very small particles, and you’ll learn in this class that they behave very differently than familiar, macroscopic objects do! This is not a class in metaphysics – the philosophical examination of time and space – nor will we be dealing with quantum mechanics (the mathy, how-to side of quantum theory). Instead, we’ll be tourists admiring the view – no prerequisite knowledge of physics or math required!

Great Discoveries, Part II

TUESDAYS | Apr. 19, 26, May 3, 10
10 - 11:30 a.m.

LOCATION: Zoom

$40

Presenter: Dr. Kjir Hendrickson

Science often teaches factoids unmoored from context, but we learn best through hearing stories. For example, did you know that the scientist who first accurately measured Earth's age was also directly responsible for the removal of leaded gasoline from the U.S. market? Or that one of the most important discoveries of the 19th century was the result of a "failed" experiment? This class explores the stories behind the science in hopes of understanding how and why it matters, and what has happened as a result. (This short course is not a part of a series, it just covers different discoveries.)

Eichmann before Jerusalem - Insights into the Mind of a Mass Murderer

TUESDAY | Apr. 19
3 - 4:30 p.m.

LOCATION: Zoom

Presenter: Anette Isaacs

Did he really just represent the "banality of evil" as author Hannah Arendt so famously expressed it? Or was he indeed a fanatical and utterly brutal Nazi, as recent historical research suggests? Join German Historian Anette Isaacs for a compelling discussion of the decade Eichmann spent in Buenos Aires, which will reveal crucial insights into the mind of one of the world's most callous mass murderers.

Art Nouveau: Beauty in Design

WEDNESDAYS | Apr. 20, 27, May 4, 11
10 - 11:30 a.m.

LOCATION: ED140 and Zoom

$40

Presenter: Susana Sosa

The first truly international style, Art Nouveau emerged in the late 1880s among artists, artisans and architects who sought modern, universal designs that could enhance the everyday world. Inspired by organic, swirling forms, artists and designers explored the intersection between aesthetic expression, craftsmanship and functionality. Architects Antonio Gaudi and Victor Horta adopted new materials like cast iron and concrete. Czech artist Alphonse Mucha raised poster art to a new level. Art Nouveau furniture, jewelry and decorative arts challenged traditional distinctions between Fine Art and crafts. This course explores the wide-ranging creations of Art Nouveau from its inception in the 1880s through its waning around 1914.

Similar accusations were leveled against Abraham Lincoln, Barack Obama, and others. Fiala will provide an overview of the history of thinking about tyranny and democracy in philosophy and in literature. This will include a discussion of solutions, as imagined by Plato and the American Founders.

The Golden Door:

Passing Through Ellis Island

THURSDAYS | Apr. 21, 28, May 5, 12

1 - 2:30 p.m.

LOCATION: Zoom

Presenter: Dr. Douglas Kenning

U.S. Immigration to the United States can be graphed as an undulating landscape with twin peaks: the Ellis Island years at the turn of the 20th Century and the Hispanic-Asian immigration of today. The first shaped 20th Century America, and the second is shaping the future. Today's OLLI demographic is dominated by descendants of those who came through Ellis Island, the greatest numbers of whom were Italians and Eastern European Jews. We will look at what drove them to emigrate, their voyage, the confusion of Ellis Island processing, and surviving an unwelcoming America. But as every experience was unique, we also will share individual family stories of people in the class who want to participate.

The Art of Dressing Joyfully

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY | May 11, 12

12 - 2 p.m.

LOCATION: ED140

Presenter: Dianne Callahan

I once saw a photo of a little girl in a cute dress with pockets and she exuberantly shouted "Look mom! Snack holes!" If that's not a celebration of dressing joyfully, I don't know what is. Join us for two awesome afternoons of exploration into how to use our clothing to express our personality and the simple joy of being alive. Joyful style doesn't necessarily mean wild colors or animal print everything. Simplicity and restraint can be joyful too. And, you don't have to have a closet (or budget) the size of one of the "real housewives" to experience the sublime pleasure of being truly happy in your clothes.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 28

FRIDAY, MARCH 25
Lightning Down

Tom Clavin's Lightning Down tells this largely untold and riveting true story.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25
The Lincoln Highway
by Amor Towles

Set in the 1950s America in June 1954, eighteen-year-old Emmett Watson is driven home to Nebraska by the warden of the juvenile work farm where he has just served 15 months for involuntary manslaughter. His mother long gone, his father recently deceased, and the family farm foreclosed upon by the bank, Emmett's intention is to pick up his eight-year-old brother, Billy, and head to California where they can start their lives anew. But when the warden drives away, Emmett discovers that two friends from the work farm have hidden themselves in the trunk of the warden's car. Together, they have hatched an altogether different plan for Emmett's future, one that will take them all on a fateful journey in the opposite direction—to the City of New York.

FRIDAY, MAY 6
The Kennedy Half Century
by Larry J. Sabato

John F. died almost half a century ago—yet because of his extraordinary promise and untimely death, his star still resonates strongly. On the anniversary of his assassination, celebrated political scientist and analyst Larry J. Sabato—himself a teenager in the early 1960s and inspired by JFK and his presidency—explores the fascinating and powerful influence he has had over five decades on the media, the general public, and especially on each of his nine presidential successors. A recent Gallup poll gave JFK the highest job approval rating of any of those successors, and millions remain captivated by his one thousand days in the White House. For all of them, and for those who feel he would not be judged so highly if he hadn't died tragically in office, The Kennedy Half-Century will be particularly revealing.

“ A reader lives a thousand lives before he dies . . .
The man who never reads lives only one.
