2021 NATIVE AMERICAN YOUTH CONFERENCE

The 2021 Native American Youth Conference (NAYC) is hosted under the department of Outreach and Special Programs at Fresno State. This one-day conference has a target audience of 6th - 12th grade Native American students from all school districts. Our goal is to provide an opportunity for future students to explore the pathways towards higher education by participating in workshops covering application admission information, financial aid and scholarships, A-G requirements, student services and resources. We will have a special guest speaker, cultural and higher education presentations, and will provide on and off campus resources to help students excel. This conference is designed to be at no cost for attendance including additional promotional items by the support of our sponsors.
